Desktop Publishing for Fun Desktop

No expensive programs. No complicated steps. No prerequisites. Learn how to design and print stunning graphic layouts for your organization, family or friends. This beginner level class will review basic concepts of graphic design and visual communication while focusing on hands-on experimentation in the computer lab. If you have the need or desire to create posters, flyers, greeting cards, newsletters, brochures, information brochures, or “out of this world” Christmas letters, then this class is for you!
