

PERSONAL APPEARANCE

Wear This Not That

- Do you have a closet full of clothes, yet never have anything to wear?
- Do you only wear 10 to 15 percent of what's in your closet?
- Do you wonder when you put something on if it's the right size, shape and proportion for your body type?
- Does your cluttered unorganized closet make getting dressed an overwhelming daily chore?
- Do you want to look more pulled together, polished or professional, but need some advice on how to make that happen?

Whether you are a college student, mother with young children, professional with a career or just want a wardrobe update, this workshop is for you. By learning to follow a few simple rules with line, style, color and proportion, anyone can look good on any budget, and at any stage of life. The right clothing can make you look thinner, taller, younger, more confident or project the image you'd like. Take the guess work out of accessing your wardrobe needs. Stacy and Clinton will not be here; however, consultant Lisa Peterson will show you how to be your own stylist, edit your wardrobe and have no regrets when shopping. Discover how the magic of proper fit can transform your look and provide you with lists of the basic pieces every woman should have in her wardrobe and what key pieces you can add every season to freshen things up. Lisa has helped women define style in the bridal and special occasion industry for 24 years. She has worked locally in some of the top boutiques in Lincoln and has worked nationally for a large bridal and evening wear manufacturer. Lisa uses her industry experience to help women shop smart and look great for every day.

Bring to the workshop 10 pieces of clothing that represent a cross section of your closet (i.e. Pants, shirts, skirts, dresses, jackets representing casual, work and going out). Each session is limited to four students to allow for one-on-one consultation.
