NEW! History for Fun: The Worst Hard Times

This is an epic story of endurance. Timothy Egan tells the plight of homesteaders in the High Plains of Texas, Oklahoma and Colorado as they try to coax this arid prairie grassland into wheat farms during the early 20th Century. It was a dream that turned into a catastrophe resulting in the Great American Dust Bowl.

NEW! History for Fun: A Vision of the Great Plains

Walter Prescott Webb was a pioneer of Great Plains studies. His classic survey is readable and still rewarding. We will examine it as a means to identify ways the Great Plains perspective helps us see local and regional history.

NEW! History for Fun: Alaska, Saga of a Bold Land

Alaska, Saga of a Bold Land by Walter R. Borneman takes a look at a bold idea that allowed the United States to purchase a wild empty territory from Russia! Coincidentally that same year, 1867, Nebraska became a state. Both territories were challenging frontiers in their own right—leading to stories with amazing similarities and grit. Uncover more of what makes these states strong.

Your Old House

Want to know the history of your old house or of any land in Cass County? A lot of information can be found on the Internet. Some may require a trip to the Cass County Museum and/or courthouse. Most information is free, some not so free. We'll explore all types, along with some terms that may not be familiar (QCD? gold street? insurance map?), and some of the unexpected finds. Finally we'll discuss what you might do with the history you compile.

There'll be lots of handouts. Instructor Harlan Seyfer is Plattsmouth's town Historian.

American History & Our Founding Fathers

This is an examination of America's Founding Fathers and the two most important documents they produced, the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. We will examine the emphasis of the Founders' beliefs and how that influenced these documents. We will follow this foundation through America's history of becoming such a great and powerful nation.

This class is offered via distance technology from Hebron.
