Welcome to Your Brand.

Genuine brands have one thing in common—they are consistently true to themselves. Your brand book is the best material to reference regarding Southeast Community College’s (SCC) brand promise and persona.

It also details important elements such as voice, tone, logo usage, fonts, color palettes, etc. that (when used collectively and consistently) create brand unification across all communications. These brand standards stretch across all campuses and departments and are to be used by anyone representing SCC in public and on the job or when creating branded materials.

For more information and resources concerning SCC’s brand visit southeast.edu/publicinformation/
Southeast Community College has been operating in its current structure since July 1, 1973, when a statewide community college system was implemented by the Legislature.

However, the campus in Milford existed long before then. The first postsecondary technical institution, exclusively offering two-year postsecondary degrees in vocational/technical programs, was established by the Nebraska Unicameral in 1941 at Milford. Operated by the Nebraska Department of Education, the school was originally established to meet the occupational education needs of the entire state.

In 1971, the Legislature passed a bill which combined junior colleges (Fairbury, established in 1941, in SCC's area), state vocational/technical colleges and the area technical schools into one system of two-year institutions. The consolidation originally established eight technical community college areas. That number was reduced to six when Lincoln merged with Southeast in 1973.

The current Lincoln Campus at 8800 O St. began in 1979. Prior to that, the College operated in a number of properties throughout Lincoln.

In 1975, SCC took over the Beatrice campus of John J. Pershing College, which opened in 1966 and closed in 1971. In 1980, the agriculture program was relocated from the Milford Campus to Beatrice. In 1986, Fairbury Junior College was closed and operations moved to Beatrice. Since 1986, SCC has added a number of facilities and land to its Beatrice Campus. The Lincoln Campus has also continued to grow, as has Milford. Today, nearly 10,000 students enroll in credit classes at SCC.

Living these truths through your brand voice is essential to creating and maintaining your intended persona. Brands are like people—they have personality. Your brand voice emanates who you are and what you stand for.

Confident

Southeast Community College projects a positive, trustworthy sense of confidence that is proud of your accomplishments and ability to provide high-quality education now and always.

Neighborly

Friendly, kind and always willing to lend a hand, Southeast Community College embodies the type of hospitality one would expect from a Midwesterner. You’re considerate and appreciative of others, while looking out for their best interests. There are no strangers in your world, just friends you haven’t met yet.

Smart

Best and the brightest to be exact. You’re experts in the field and teaching others to be experts in their chosen field. Because you’re smart, you know how to speak to people on their level—intelligent communication is all about getting your point across and being well understood.

Everyperson

Everyperson isn’t just any person. Everyperson is a leader who does so by diplomatic example. Everyperson builds community through collaborative connections. Everyperson is relatable and treats those around them as equals. It’s all for one and one for all with Everyperson.

<th>Marketing Niche</th>
<th>You have common sense values and provide a true egalitarian environment—a place where everyone feels comfortable being themselves.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
The Southeast Community College identity carries a great deal of sentimental value and equity for people who have had an experience with the organization. This mark builds upon that rich history and brings it into a more modern age. Using bold line work it creates an “S” with two shapes but, when examined separately, the two shapes are also “C”s. Paired with a typeface that uses open characters and rounded corners to help with readability and approachability, it brings a modern twist to the mark people know.

Horizontal Logo
The horizontal logo is SCC’s tried-and-true format and is used as the primary logo option for most applications, providing viewers with trusted familiarity alongside the modernized design.

Stacked Logo
The stacked version is SCC's secondary logo option. Utilize this format when the primary horizontal orientation doesn't lend itself well to the logo's placement on or in SCC buildings or marketing materials.

S Icon
The S icon is primarily used for embroidery, promotional items, on social media and as a favicon.
In order to preserve the impact, integrity and legibility of the SCC logo, a minimum clear space must be left around all logo edges.

The height of the S in Southeast should be used as a measuring tool for proper clearance as illustrated here. Outside elements or text should never encroach the required clear space boundaries.

For all lockups, the clear space on all sides of the logo should also be equal to height of the S in Southeast. When the college name is not included the clear space is equal to half the width of the S icon.
The logo must always be displayed at a size large enough to read the type. Sizing will vary based on the application, but as a general rule, going below these sizes will render the smaller text unreadable.

For Print
The horizontal logo should never be sized under 1.5" inches wide.
The stacked logo should never be sized under 1.25" inches wide.
The S icon should never be sized under .25" inches wide.

For Web
The horizontal logo should never be sized under 120 pixels wide.
The stacked logo should never be sized under 100 pixels wide.
The S icon should never be sized under 20 pixels wide.
The SCC logo is the College’s most visible brand asset and must be used consistently across all applications. It has been carefully designed and should never be altered in any way. These examples illustrate how NOT to use the logo, but do not include all instances of misuse.

DO NOT:

1. “Squash” the logo by scaling without maintaining the aspect ratio.

2. Rotate or tilt the logo.

3. Use colors other than those found in the brand color palette.

4. Rearrange parts of the logo.

5. Add or substitute text in the logo.

6. Resize the text in one of the approved lockups.

7. Add special effects, strokes or shadows to the logo.

8. Place the full color version of the logo on a busy or colorful background.
Primary Palette
The primary colors for SCC are the two shades of blue, Pantone 294C and Pantone 7689C. These should be the base for all marketing and promotional materials. Shades of the primary colors can be used as accents or backgrounds.

Secondary Palette
There are secondary accent colors selected to complement the primary colors. These can be used in marketing and promotional materials in addition to the primary colors. These colors should be minimally used and should never dominate or dilute the primary colors.
The ASAP font family and the Fira font family are used on all high-level communications materials—anything from billboards, postcards and other marketing materials (print and digital) to standard correspondences with students or businesses.

The ASAP font family is the preferred typeface for headlines and is available here: https://fonts.google.com/specimen/ASAP.

The Fira font family is the preferred typeface for body copy and is available here: https://fonts.google.com/specimen/Fira+Sans.

SCC’s brand identity also includes a few accent fonts which can be selectively used by the marketing department to add extra emphasis and visual style to messaging. The use of these fonts should be very limited in order to maintain its effectiveness and prevent the overall brand identity from becoming cluttered.

Education for all.

Your Path to Possible

Your Path to Possible
The primary photography for the brand platform features students, faculty, staff and alumni in interesting environments that bring SCC to life. Our photography falls into three categories: in the classroom, out in the world and portraits. Think of them as a visual way to tell a story. The elements of our visual storytelling, whether it’s the people, props or environment, are meant to feel natural and not staged. Some images are composed purposefully to feel open and airy, with space for overlays of text and graphic elements. Other images may have a fuller composition, showing richer environments and backgrounds.

In the classroom
When capturing classroom and research settings, it is important to include a human element — the people who are immersed in teaching and learning. Attempt to capture a candid moment and compose the photo in a way that showcases not just the subject, but the environment surrounding him or her as well.

Out in the world
The images chosen to support the brand platform should be vibrant, active and emotive. They should capture the energy of real-life experiences that relate to the content being promoted. Choose real, interactive experiences that convey a sense of immediacy and evoke an authentic tone.
